Health-focused nonprofits awarded over $1.7 million in grants from the Pallottine Foundation of Huntington

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. – The Pallottine Foundation of Huntington recently awarded 116 nonprofit organizations in the Tri-State with grants totaling over $1.7 million through its 2024 Healthy Communities Initiative. The initiative provides grant funding up to $50,000 to programs that address health and wellness challenges in the Foundation’s region.

“The projects and programs we fund through Healthy Communities provide for the physical, emotional, and spiritual needs of people throughout West Virginia, Kentucky, and Ohio,” said Laura Boone, CEO of the Pallottine Foundation of Huntington. “The nonprofit organizations that received these grants are innovative, resilient, and dedicated to providing services and resources that will enable people to overcome obstacles and live healthy, happy lives.”

This year’s Healthy Communities recipients include food assistance programs, child advocacy centers, mental and behavioral health programs, health departments, family resource and support networks, substance use disorder recovery programs, community centers, and shelters for people experiencing domestic violence or homelessness.
